

Prieuré Saint Jean de Bébian

Prieuré Saint Jean de Bébian is one of the oldest estates in the Languedoc and now a benchmark amongst French wines. It covers 32 hectares round Pézenas which was officially designated an appellation on 29 April 2007. The terroir was thus classified as "grand cru", the top of the new three-level ranking of Languedoc AOC wines. Bébian land was planted with vines as early as the Roman times. The history of Bébian has been closely tied up for centuries with Pézenas, a town of art, culture and wine. Bébian's fame began in the 1970s when the estate underwent a radical overhaul. The old Mediterranean stock (cinsault, carignan) was jealously conserved and was joined by the "noble" varieties of syrah, grenache, mourvèdre and the other traditional Châteauneuf-du-Pape varieties of roussanne, marsanne, clairette, counoise, bourboulenc and grenache gris.
